

Just a reminder that...

Life Below Stairs

...the popular interactive days at The Judge's Lodging are available all year round

The Judge is arriving from London this very evening and the servants of his lodging must be sure that everything is just as he likes it. Join the hardworking Victorian staff in the tasks ahead of them and experience what life was really like below stairs.

Activities include:

Upstairs - Preparing the judge's apartments using traditional cleaning methods, filling baths and bed-making

Downstairs - preparing the period lights and setting the table

In the Kitchen - a look at the sort of food the Judge likes, making a menu for the evening meal and a whole range of strange mystery objects

And finally ...a trip to the gloomy cells and courtroom

Discussions on the life of a Victorian servant include:

Living conditions, daily routine and duties, pastimes and prospects

We have costumed and non-costumed interpreters, all highly experienced in helping you make the most of your visit.

We also have:

a set of replica Victorian masks of the judge, his friends and servants for you to try on a full set of girl's underwear, including corset, hoops and knickers (yes, the ones with no backs in them!)
a magic lantern and zoetrope to entertain you —all of which will be included.

You are also welcome to use our courtroom to create your own trials.

You will spend around 3 hours in total with the servants, but everything can be tailored to meet your needs. Bring your lunches and make a day of it.

Only £4.50 per child for the day. Teachers & helpers free
